

Hi, Bananacoin supporters!

As Bananacoin Project founders, Oleg Dobrovolsky and Alexander Bychkov, congratulate you all on the successful TGE!

It was an amazing year! Our team has been working 25 hours a day, 8 days a week and we've been able to achieve truly incredible results.

This year we've traveled over 100,000 kilometers, from Ulaanbaatar to Los Angeles, visited almost 20 cities, held over 200 meetings and made over 50 presentations.

Thank you all!

March 1st in Singapore we've held an important meeting with leading financial consultants to discuss the future of Bananacoin development, as well as a creation of an agriculture platform, based on blockchain.

Our team has decided to start increasing the cost of BCO right now.

Because who has time to wait, right?

There is a very successful project in Cambodia. It's a mango plantation. Not just a mango though. It's the most delicious and in demand sort of mango in Asia.

Thomas, founder of plantation, Brazilian citizen, has an extensive experience behind his back.

He has been successfully growing and selling mangos for years.

We held multiple meetings with Thomas and also visited his plantation in Cambodia which has made quite an impression.

So we've come to an agreement to allocate 2,000,000 unused BCOs for the development of the mango plantation, which will increase the expected cost of Bananacoin tokens by at least $ 2 to $ 3.

Yes, you got it right.

Now every Bananacoin token owner will be able to get both the Cambodian mango and the Laotian banana in exchange for his BCO.

Or compensation of their export value to China.

Moreover we are currently negotiating the purchase of an already-made banana plantation, which will speed up development of the Bananacoin project.

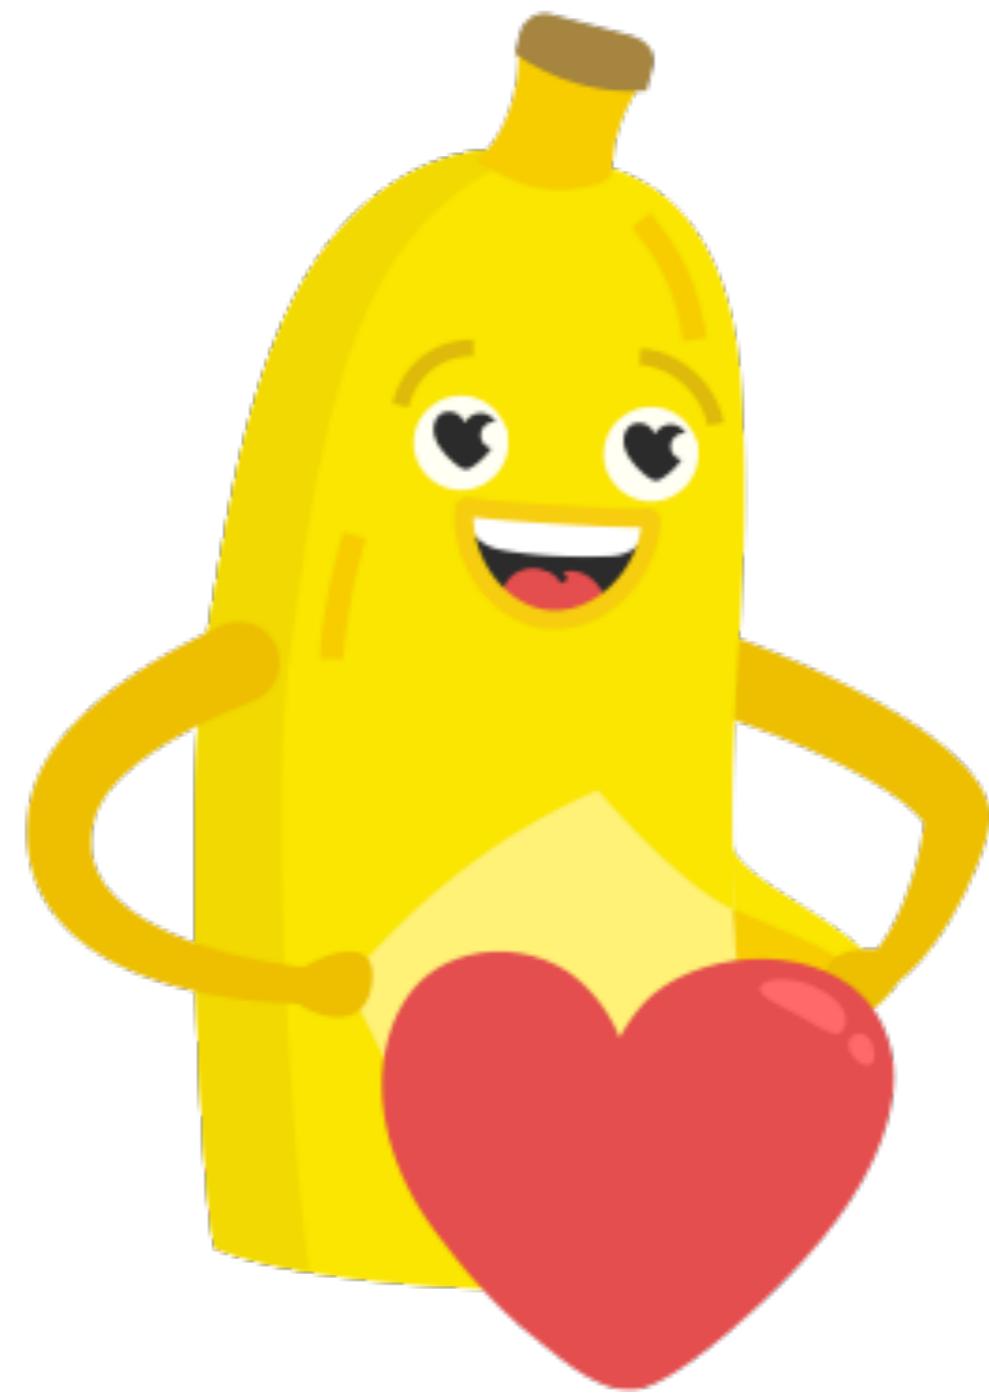

These actions are the first step on the way to a global blockchain platform, which will include not only plantations, but also a fruit trading company.

And the most important, Bananacoin token holders will be able to exchange it to a new Fruit Platform token!

So Hold! Hold! Hold!

Seems like a good strategy to us.

Thanks!
